The finishing touches are now being made on our new building, and by November 1st we fully expect to occupy it. Although slightly inconvenienced in our present store we're showing the new fall and winter footwear-and there's nothing in that line that may be demanded that we cannot supply.

The extraordinary discount of 20c. on the dollar is still going on-as we have a few pairs left of light-weight shoes and other lines of shoes that we shall discontinue after removing.

Now that the social season is well on society is giving its attention to receptions, balls, dances, dinners and coming-out events.

We have all the footwear which are proper for such oc-casions. Not a style or two, but a full complement—the exact replica of those same exquisite creations as are worn by the elite of New York city.

This is indeed a unique shoe store—unique because it is unlike any other shoe store in the city—shows all the novelties, including gymnasium Oxfords and shoes for those in schools and colleges-a dozen or more styles in riding boots, in golfing shoes and Oxfords, in coachmen's and butlers' and waiters' footwear, noiseless shoes for nurses and maids, in walking shoes and shoes for rainy-day wear with short skirts.

The smart, stylish "college" shoes for young men and ladies are also here in an unequaled and formidable array.

THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

The Walker-Thomas Wedding at All Souls' Church Today.

Other Marriages and Wedding An-

The most notable event of the day in the social world was the marriage of Miss Frances Pickering Walker, daughter of Admiral Walker of the navy, to Dr. John Jenks Thomas of Boston, which took place at All Souls' Church, corner 14th and L streets northwest, at noon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Bradford Leavitt, paster of All Souls', in the presence of a distinguished company, many persons prominent in the official life of the national capital being present. The church presented a handsome appearance, the decorating, executed in paims and chrysanthemums, being especially effective about the pulpit, which was a mass of green and white.

Miss Walker entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed with rare oid iace, and was attended by her sisters, Miss Susan G. Waiker and Miss Sarah C. Waiker. Dr. Thomas was attended by his cousin, Mr. Charles C. Hyde of Chicago. The ushers were Mr. H. P. Walker, a brother of the bride; Mr. Arthur Keith, Lieut, Rogers of the navy, Mr. F. G. Matheson of New York, Mr. Theodore M. Taft of New York and Dr. Wm. M. Buliard of Boston. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the residence of Admiral and Mrs. Walker, followed by a reception, at which a number of friends of both Dr. Thomas and Miss Walker from out of town were present.
Dr. and Mrs. Thomas will proceed at once

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas will proceed at once to Boston, where they will make their future home, and where Mrs. Thomas is already well and favorably known, being a granddaughter of the late Henry Pickering of that city. The groom is a native of Ohio, but for some years past has made his home at the Hub. Among the invited guests who witnessed the ceremony at the church were: Mrs. Paine, Mrs. Dall, Mr. H. C. Pickering, J. W. G. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Grew, the Misses Pickering, Miss Fuller, Mrs. Chinn, Mr. D. W. Grimes, Mr. Adams, Miss Thomas, Mr. Copeland, Secretary Long of the navy, Admiral Dewey, Justice and Mrs. Gray, Justice Harlan, Admiral and Mrs. Franklin, Admiral and Mrs. Ramsey, the Misses Rodgers, Capt. and Mrs. Bartlett, Chief Justice Fuller, General Greely, Admiral and Mrs. Schley and Mr. Kasson. Admiral Dewey entered the church a short time before the ceremony, and was escorted to one of the front pews by Lieut. Rogers. On his way out he was greeted by a number of friends, to whom he re-turned cordial salutations. Upon being greeted as "admiral" by one of his old acquaintances in Washington before he was sent away to his far-away station in the Asiatic sea, he exclaimed, "Admiral; ad-miral, indeed; here, none of that," and then followed up the remark with a hearty handshake.

From the Fond du Lac Commonwealth of October 16 the following is taken: "The family of United States Commissioner of Pensions H. Clay Evans, consisting of Mrs. Evans and two daughters, are stopping at H. Durand's, 41 4th street, for a week or two and will visit the cottage at Lake De two and will visit the cottage at Lake De Nevue. They are en route to Washington. D. C., where they will join Mr. Evans and remain during the winter. All of them have been outing in the Rocky and Selkirk mountains, and the young ladies are experts with the Winchester. Among their exploits they captured two large elks and plenty of mountain trout in the streams along the McLeod river. They fished in the Yellowstone and bathed in Lake Tahoe."

A pretty wedding took place Monday

A pretty wedding took place Monday evening October 16, 1899, at St. Patrick's parsonage. The contracting parties were Miss Catharine Cecella Lauxman and Mr. Charles T. McDonald. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Stafford in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The bride wore white organdle over white silk and carried a shower bou-quet of bride roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Rosa Walker, who wore white organdle and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. The best man was Mr. V. Wah er. A wedding reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother. Mrs. H. M. Lauxman, No. 61 Florida avenue northwest. After congratulations they proceeded to the dining room, where a bounteous repast was served. The pres-ents were numerous and handsome. CAPT. COLEMAN ILL. First to Enlist in District in Defense

Captain James Coleman, who has lived on Capitol Hill all his life, is critically ill. For three years his health has been failing, and a week ago he was removed to Providence Hospital. Captain Coleman was born in this city sixty-eight years ago. During his early life was employed as foreman of the blacksmith shop in the navy yard. He was married in 1800, at which time he was working for Alexander R. Shepherd. He was connected with the Washington Light Infantry when the war broke out, and when volunteers for the three months' service were called for, his three months' service were called for, his name was the first to be recorded. At the end of this service Captain Coleman enlisted for three years, entering the service as a lieutenant. He was discharged at the end of two years, and was given a position in the quartermaster's department. In 1865 he accepted a position as guard in the District jail, which he held until 1892. He is a member of Kit Carson Post, G. A. R., and is also a member of the Union Soldiers' Alliance. His condition is serious.

MUST BE DISCONTINUED.

Unlawful Occupancy of Sidewalks Adjacent to Riggs Market.

Complaints have been made to the Disrict Commissioners by property owners and residents on P and 15th streets, adjacent to the Riggs Market, of the occupancy of the sidewalks by country people and others who have been in the habit of selling their products there. As a result of these complaints, Commissioner Wight forwarded a communication to the police lieutenant in charge of the precinct in which the market is located, inquiring why such occupancy has been permitted.

No reply has been received by Mr. Wight to his inquiry from Lieut. Heffner, in charge of the precinct, but this morning he was called upon by a number of the dealers interested. They represented to Mr. Wight that to prohibit them from continuing their occupancy of the sidewalks for the ex-posure and sale of their products would be the infliction upon them of a great hardship, as they are, as a rule, people of very limited means and resources, and wholly dependent for a livelihood upon the little business they have been enabled to carry on there. Therefore, they asked that the police be instructed to allow them to remain undisturbed main undisturbed. Mr. Wight, while expressing great sympathy with them, explained that the law placing the sidewalks in the control of the Commissioners expressly provides that public space shall not be occupied for pri-vate purposes. He referred to the com-plaints which have been made to the Commissioners in the matter, the complainant charging that the sidewalks are congested and rendered unsightly, and that the business of the regular dealers is interfered with. While he appreciated the fact that the exclusion of the people from the privi-lege referred to would amount to a great hardship, so far as they are concerned, and that their absence would be regretted by those who have been in the habit of patronizing them, yet Mr. Wight express d the opinion that their occupancy of the side-walks is not authorized by law, and that the Commissioners cannot, therefore, permit its continuance. In this connection, he said, he regretted that in such cases the Commissioners are not authorized to act in such a manner as would afford relief to those affected by the order to vacate. This order, it is understood, will only apply to those who occupy the sidewalks not immediately in front of the market. Side-walk space in front of the market is al-lowed to be occupied under the Commis-sioners' construction of the law that such occupancy amounts to an extension of the business of the market, a rule adopted in other like cases.

X. In loving remembrance of my dear wife, MARY GENEVIEVE COX, who died five years ago tomorrow. October 22, 1884.
Her lips I have kissed, they are faded and cold;
Her hands I have clasped are covered with mold;
Her tomb I will wreath. I have flowers for thee,
But who will ever gather a flower for me?

Loved in life, remembered in death BY HER HUSBAND, WILLIAM COX FOLLETT. In loving remembrance of my dear son, EDWARD A. FOLLETT, who died four years ago this day, October 21, 1895.
